I. Summary:

The bill requires the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to identify any operator convicted of or who pled nolo contendere to a traffic offense giving rise to a third crash which occurred within 36 months after the first crash, and requires the operator, in addition to other applicable penalties, to attend a departmentally approved driver improvement course in order to maintain driving privileges. The course must include behind-the-wheel instruction and an assessment of the operator's ability to safely operate a motor vehicle. If the operator fails to complete the course within 90 days after receiving notice from the DHSMV, the operator's driver license is canceled by the DHSMV until the course is successfully completed. The DHSMV estimates an increase in revenue totaling $9,205 over a three year period.

This bill substantially amends s. 322.0261 of the Florida Statutes.

II. Present Situation:

Driver Improvement Courses

BILL: CS/SB 484 Page 2

Section 322.0261, F.S., requires the DHSMV to require operators convicted of, or who pled nolo contendere to, a traffic offense involving: (1) a crash in which a death or bodily injury requires transport to a medical facility; or (2) a second crash by the same operator within the previous two-year period which involves property damage in an apparent amount of at least $500, to attend a departmentally approved driver improvement course in order to maintain driving privileges. If the operator fails to complete the course within 90 days of receiving notice from the DHSMV, the operators driver's license must be canceled until the course is successfully completed. In determining whether to approve a driver improvement course, the DHSMV considers course content designed to promote safety, driver awareness, crash avoidance techniques, and other factors or criteria to improve driver performance from a safety viewpoint.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill amends s. 322.0261, F.S., to require the DHSMV to identify any operator convicted of or who pled nolo contendere to a third crash which occurred within 36 months after the first crash, and shall require the operator, in addition other applicable penalties, to attend a DHSMV-approved driver improvement course in order to maintain driving privileges. The course must include behind-the-wheel instruction and an assessment of the operator's ability to safely operate a motor vehicle. If the operator fails to complete the course within 90 days after receiving notice from the DHSMV, the operator's driver license is canceled by the DHSMV until the course is successfully completed.

Since there currently is not a departmentally approved driver improvement course offered that includes behind-the-wheel instruction, the bill will require the development of special course requirements and curricula.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Persons found guilty of a third crash within 36 months would be required to attend a driver improvement school that includes behind-the-wheel instruction and an assessment of the person's ability to safely operate a motor vehicle to retain driving privileges. According to DHSMV, driving schools offer driver improvement courses on average for $30 - $50. Currently, there are no departmentally approved driver improvement courses offered that include behind-the-wheel instruction, The cost of such a course is unknown; however, the DHSMV estimates a cost of $300 - $500.

Based on DHSMV's review of the driver license database for calendar years 2005, 2006, and 2007, there were 3,682 licensed drivers who have had three or more crashes within these three years.

According to the DHSMV, the bill will generate minimal revenue. Section 318.1451, F.S., requires, in addition to a regular course fee, a $2.50 assessment fee to be collected by the driving school from each person electing to attend a course. The assessment fee is remitted to DHSMV and deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund. The DHSMV estimates an increase in revenue totaling $9,205 over a three year period, or $3,068 in revenue per year based on requiring 3,682 persons found guilty of a third crash within 36 months attending the driver improvement school.

C. Government Sector Impact:

According to the DHSMV, the bill will require programming modifications to the Driver License Information System the cost of which can be absorbed within existing resources.
